JMS ARMS 6.5X47 LAPUA SHORTY

VERY ACCURATE - VERY VERSATILE

Introduction

The new JMS ARMS 6.5x47 Lapua Shorty blends both the desire for a short and very functional deer stalking / foxing rifle and combines it with a new versatile round and the IMS (Integrated Moderator System).

This rifle that has proven itself on targets and in the field hunting - what you get is a very short highly practical rifle for use as a woodland stalking tool, 4x4 fox gun or discreet pest control tool.

The Specification

Very solid feeling, the sort of rifle that just screams to be used for real life hunting scenarios:

- Benchrest quality from Stiller Precision combined with a TAC 30 action perfectly sized for the .308 sized cartridge range and gives a Remmy clone but at far superior tolerances.
- The barrel is a Shilen Select Match stainless steel and the exterior of the barrel is brightly polished to reduce carbon build up due to the integral moderator.
- Bell & Carlson Tactical Stock with Aluminum core and bedding
- MAE IMS (Integrated Moderator System)

Cartridge

The 6.5x 47L round is an ultra efficient case compared to similar larger sized rounds of the .243/.308 case family. The 6.5x47L is loaded to 2.795 inch OAL and as such will fit nicely into a short action rifle, ideal for "Shorty". It is not a fussy round and can shoot 85-140 grain bullets with ease, heavier bullets defeat the object of the round. Medium burn rate powders such as Reloder RL15 or RL17, Varget, Vit N150 or N540 work very well.

Conclusion

The muzzle report with all loads tested is incredibly muted, a dull compressed "throng". This gives the Shorty a very good stealthy attitude and allows you to shoot more than one deer if culling is necessary without spooking the game or land owner. This rifle combination is very portable, a little heavy, but robust and this means you can handle it in and out of 4x4 vehicles and really get on with the job of stalking without fear of causing any damage.
